The LRTA is an unique organisation, bringing together transit professionals, local environmental activists and enthusiastic, knowledgeable amateurs in an international body which advocates modern tramways and urban light rail transit. It campaigns for the introduction and development of light rail at home and abroad. It has no political affiliation. Its sole aim is to publicise light rail and its economic and environmental benefits.

New members are welcomed whether they be transport professionals or interested amateurs. Members receive "Tramways & Urban Transit" by post each month and are entitled to subscribe to the LRTA's historical magazine "Tramway Review" at a reduced rate.
